article copies out of journals

Please log in and go to: Search & Order > Journals.
Your account has to be unlocked.
How to order...
article copies out of journals

Search for journal title, keywords, ISSN number or PubMed-ID using the simple search.

Tip: Less is more! Do not put in too much information, use only one of the slots and check your spelling. If the journal title has got a hyphen, try with and without hyphen. If you get too many hits, put in more information and try again.

Please note: You cannot search for the title of the article, only for the title of the journal. You can put in the title of the article later during the process of ordering. Helpful tools finding article data you can find here.

If you want to search for journal titles or do not have full bibliographic information about an article, these are helpful tools:

Conventional search engines like google, Bing…:

• To find the full article or journal titles, especially if you know abbreviations, parts of titles or short titles only.

• To find the ISSN number of an e-journal or print journal adding terms like "print ISSN" or "online ISSN"

You can put the information found there into the search slots on the subito website.

If you do not have full bibliographic information about the article or you need to do a first research on a topic, these are helpful tools, too:

WorldCat: https://www.worldcat.org/
- To find the journal, year of publication, page numbers etc. of your journal article

There are many more possibilities to find article information. You can use German library catalogues, for example:

KVK: https://kvk.bibliothek.kit.edu

Livivo: https://www.livivo.de/ (medicine related articles)

GBV: https://gso.gbv.de/

BVB: http://www.gateway-bayern.de/

Ordering with the PubMed-ID:

- If you order medicine associated articles you can also order with the PubMed-ID. This gives you the advantage that you do not have to insert the article data yourself.

You can do a content-related research on the PubMed website. The PubMed-ID (PMID) will be shown with the article information.
